2 District Men Hurt As Car Hits Pole On Rt. 45, Catches Fire

Six persons were injured in eight highway traffic accidents over the weekend. The State Highway Patrol reported today.

A car driven by George Stuckey, 44, of Lisbon crashed into a power pole and caught fire when he lost control of it on Route 45, three miles south of Salem, around midnight Saturday.

Stuckey suffered possible dislocation of the right shoulder, internal injuries and lacerations, while a passenger, Edward Meek, 34, of RD 1, Hanoverton, suffered lacerations of the head, face and ear and burns on the head.

Both men were taken to Salem City Hospital. The Salem fire department extinguished the fire in the car.

The farewell party was originally scheduled for Wednesday, but later was changed to tomorrow.

Through his efforts $18,000 in improvements were made to the church itself, the church budget was increased more than one-half, the women's society was reorganized and an intermediate program developed which attracted national attention in Methodism.

In addition, Rev. Swogger served this year as president of the Salem Ministerial Association and previously as secretary.

Rhee Brings Korea Politics Near Crisis

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—South Korea's political crisis neared a climax today as President Syngman Rhee handed the Assembly an ultimatum—adopt his proposed constitutional amendments quickly or he would dissolve the Legislature.

"I will wait only a few more days," Rhee declared, "then I will take decisive action in compliance with the will of the people."

Rhee did not indicate how he would go about dissolving the Assembly. Korea's Constitution makes no provision for such action.

The 77-year-old President and the National Assembly have been feuding bitterly since January. Rhee demands constitutional amendments providing for popular election of a President and a two-house Legislature.

The one-house Assembly elected the President. It was scheduled to do so last week, but Rhee supporters forced postponement of the election.

The President's ultimatum was read by Prime Minister Chang Teak Sang, leader of a compromise faction.

Murray Raps "Big Six" Of Steel Industry, Charges Conspiracy

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—The CI United Steelworkers, their chief says, have talks set for today in their effort to continue to win strike-ending agreements with part of the industry despite a stalemate with the big producers.

Philip Murray, president of both the CI and the steelworkers, dealt harshly with the steel industry's "Big Six" in addressing 4,000 persons at a union rally here yesterday.

Near the end of the slowly delivered, 1½-hour speech, Murray said heads of many smaller firms had been seeking him out, trying to bargain to end their plants' shutdown from the nation-wide strike of 650,000 steelworkers 29 days ago.

Wouldn't Name Firms

He declined to name the firms, but quoted managers of some of them as saying they were afraid of being blacklisted by the "Big Six," from whom they bought ore to whom they sold materials.

Later, at a news conference, Murray said the union would meet with some employers today in Pittsburgh and other cities. He named no companies, but the inference from his speech and conference comment was that the union was at an impasse, for the time being at least, with the major producers.

"The 'Big Six,'" Murray said, was "a conspiracy and its work has been dedicated to frustrating agreement."

The "Big Six" to which he referred are U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland, and they have nearly 70 per cent of the nation's steelmaking capacity.

Six Firms To Meet

In New York a newspaper said executives of the six firms will meet this week to decide whether to try bargaining again or force President Truman's hand on use of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The New York Times quoted an unidentified steel company spokesman as saying it was a "safe assumption" that representatives of the firms would meet this week to "assess the entire situation."

Murray, in his speech here yesterday, read a full list of smaller steel plants that have made agreements with the steelworkers since the strike started. The settlements cover about 25,000 of the strikers, and together with firms unhit by the walkout, give the nation about Three suicide notes told of his regret for his life of crime. One stated:

"I am sentencing myself to death for all my evil misdeeds."

In 1947 Wright underwent an operation in a Pittsburgh hospital in which part of his brain was removed. It was believed the operation had eliminated his urge to steal. He was paroled from prison in 1949.

Two weeks ago police arrested him and found more than $25,000 worth of stolen loot in his Pittsburgh apartment. He admitted 28 house burglaries in Western Pennsylvania and two in West Virginia. A few days ago he was brought here to show police the scenes of his burglaries.

State police said Wright broke his eyeglasses and used a piece of the glass to slash his wrist. He made a noose of his T-shirt and a small blanket to strangle himself.

His 27-year-old wife Roberta could only say, "Millard in my opinion was a very good man. What he had wrong with him was something he couldn't do anything about."

Wright's second note to his wife, whom he married in April, read: "Goodbye, my darling. Give my eternal love to my good loyal wife who has been more to me than I deserve. I am sentencing myself to death for my evil misdeeds."

The third note:

"Dr. Koskoff, Reverend Swoyer, Bill Heagy, Chaplain Stremel, Father Hubert, and those I harmed. Please forgive me. I die in sincere sorrow."

Allied planes were grounded again today. Even all-weather B26 light bombers remained at their bases.

Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus, Fifth Air Force commander, reported Allied planes which bombed the giant Suio power plant a week ago drew heavy fire from Communist anti-aircraft guns across the Yalu River in Manchuria but made no attempt to silence them.

Barcus said last week's series of raids wiped out 13 power plants, all there were in North Korea.

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A perfect Scandinavian beauty—Finland's blonde Armi Kuusela—rules as Miss Universe today.

One of her country's official greeters at next month's Olympic reception here after besting beauties from 29 other lands.

The fair, blue-eyed Finn was crowned with a diamond-studded coronet that once graced the heads of three Czarinas of Russia. At her coronation ball last night, she received a motion picture contract, a $3,000 sports car and a $2,500 wrist watch.

Selected as "the most beautiful girl in the world," Miss Finland is 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. It is symmetrically distributed on a figure measuring 34, 23 and 34 inches around bust, waist and hips.

Miss Hawaii, dark-eyed Brunette Elsa Edmans, was a close second. The honey-skinned 19-year-old Honolulu girl made a particularly impressive showing in the bathing suit division. Judging also was based on performance in evening gowns.

Miss Greece, Daisy Mavraki, 18, of Crete, was third, with Miss Hong Kong, Judy Dan, 21, fourth, and Miss Germany, Renate Hoy, 21, of Munich was fifth.

Miss Universe accepted a movie contract calling for a minimum of six months. The starting salary is $250 a week.

Roving Reports By HAL BOYLE

A TOWN IN THE WESTERN U.S.—The problem of a tremendous number of intellectual children is how to deal bravely with a parent's ailment.

The father and the mother do their best for the children they love. But they leave no pattern of comfort behind if death should suddenly grab them.

One of the most common diseases of the late middle age is the stroke—or the heart attack.

One stills the brain—at least partly. The other stills the heart pump, the valve of life.

The parent usually doesn't know of his adventure into mystery because his children do not tell him the nature of his ailment. Perhaps the children themselves do not know.

Every family must have a man like Jim, a man at the peak of his powers who is suddenly stricken and becomes helpless so far as the use of his muscles is concerned.

The great hidden drama in many American families is what they do with a man who suffers a stroke. Usually the women of the family begin to make him their prisoner by babying him.

That is Jim's problem. He must go ahead inflicting his views and personality on a world in which he cannot run and play—but in which he has some responsibility.

Such is the twilight goal of power for many men and women who wield responsibility, and who have suffered a stroke.

A stroke is an interior lightning flash that weakens one or the other sides of the human body from a muscular viewpoint and makes the weak side emotionally dependent on the side that is not handicapped.

In other words, if your mother-in-law suffers a stroke, you should massage her stricken hand and make her know you love her. The extremities of those who are so afflicted become extremely sensitive. Only the calming hand of love can soothe them in their distress and doubt.

This any member of any family should as a labor of affection do for any relative or friend afflicted by a stroke.

The main thing about a person who has had a stroke is that he has lost communication with his ordinary world. He knows that better than you do. To help him you have to help him keep in touch with the life he has known before. You have to escort him over the ridge of difference. You have to build a bridge of love between what he was and what he must be, no matter what he was before.

The thing I always remember about people who had strokes is that they appreciate it if you understand them.

Dizziness Common With Noises In Ears

An extremely common complaint of older people is a buzzing, ringing or hissing sound known technically as tinnitus in one or both ears.

Not only is it uncomfortable to have noises in the ears, but it also causes a good deal of anxiety. Judging by letters received, people who have this unpleasant symptom would do almost anything to get rid of it.

In at least some forms of Meniere's disease, the cause is believed to be a drop in the deep portion of the ear called the inner ear, or labyrinth. This dropsical condition—accumulation of fluid—does not often develop in young people, but from the age of 45 on is increasingly common. Why it should come at all is not known.

One or both ears may be involved. The attacks of dizziness may bother patients more than the ringing in the ears or loss of hearing.

In many cases the attacks of dizziness become less and less frequent and severe after the first few years.

Some patients who drink a lot of fluids find that an attack comes on a few hours afterwards—probably because of the increased accumulation of fluid in the labyrinth. This has given a clue leading to the use of some forms of treatment aimed at cutting down the intake of fluids or removing excess fluids from the body.

Several medical treatments have been tried. Surgery is also employed with success in some cases and not in others. Surgical treatment, however, is usually reserved for the most severe cases.

Unless people fall and hurt themselves as a result of dizziness, Meniere's disease is more annoying and uncomfortable than it is dangerous. It does not interfere too much with activities or bodily functions, but does often lead to increasing hardness of hearing. Eventually there is a reduction in the noises.

The "wise men of Gotham" refers to the tradition that the men of Gotham, England, by pretending to be fools disengaged the king from setting up a hunting lodge near their town.

GOP Governors Gloomy Over Party Chances

HOUSTON, Tex. — Gloomy Republican governors forecast difficulties for their party in November as warring Democrats talked today of civil rights issues which might let them win the presidency.

Forecasts that the Republicans would be the underdogs in the general election came from two supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower — Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey and Gov. Walter Kohler of Wisconsin. They agreed the GOP nominee would be the outsider in the betting, whether he is Eisenhower or Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

On the other hand, Democratic executives gathered for the annual Governors Conference here sounded back-thumping note of confidence that they will win with any nominee they can agree upon at their Chicago convention.

Many of them, however, were waiting for a scheduled news conference answer by Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois to the often-repeated question of what he might do about a presidential draft movement.

There was no indication that Stevenson would travel beyond his latest observation that it remains to be seen what might happen in that event.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, firebrand of the Southern Democratic battle against President Truman's civil rights program, could supply some information on Stevenson's chances later in the day, if he chose to.

The former Supreme Court justice and secretary of state was keeping a tight rein on any comment, but friends assayed an analysis of his position as this:

He would oppose — possibly to the extent of an open revolt — any nominee who embraced a platform plank calling for action by Congress on such controversial issues as creation of a fair employment practices commission (FEPC) with powers to enforce its rulings against job discrimination.

Scientist Says He'll Harness Volcano Heat

MEXICO CITY — A Texas chemist says he can harness the heat from Mexico's active 9-year-old volcano, Paricutin, to produce cheap electricity for the country's West Coast.

E. H. Dignowity of Dennison, Tex., said he had submitted plans to the Mexican government for a pilot plant to cost $57,200. He said Dr. Francisco Garcia Junto, the University of Mexico's chief physicist, was working with him.

Dignowity said this is his plan: Hot lava from the volcano 250 miles west of Mexico City would be channeled into a big pit to heat coils of cobalt pipe. Water circulating in the pipes would be converted into steam, which would drive electric generators.

The Texan said power could be produced that way "at about 3 percent of the cost of ordinary power."

Production at the company's west coast and Columbus, O., plants is continuing under a voluntary extension of present wage rates agreed to by the CIO United Auto Workers (UAW).

Youth Kills Self To Make Amends For Theft

TOLEDO, O. — A 15-year-old boy, arrested recently because he tried to steal a gift for Father's Day, killed himself to make amends, the sheriff's office said.

A motorist found the body of Fred Greenburg yesterday not far from his home. The boy had shot himself in the head with his dad's .22-caliber pistol. Deputy Coroner Irvin McConnell said.

The boy had left a note to his parents saying he was "paying for my mistake."

Juvenile Court officials had released him to his parents' custody after giving him a lecture.

The Hand Is Slower Than The Eye

If the public has had trouble keeping track of congressional action on controls, the fault does not lie with the public's heat-fatigued brain. It lies with the muddled situation which Congress is trying to straighten out in an election year.

The legislative hand is slower than the public eye which has seen for a long time that economic controls, so-called, were more political than economical. Congress would have dumped most controls a year ago had it not been for politics.

The original motive in setting up wage and price controls was to offset the impact of war production on wages and prices. When the impact was registered in spite of the controls, then gradually subsided, it became evident that the motive for maintaining controls was no longer the original motive. The only people who wanted controls continued were the ones who thought they had something to gain.

Wage earners in general were for price controls, against wage controls. Managers in general were for wage controls, against price control. Everybody else was caught in the middle.

Wages had gone up in ratio to the political power of those who wanted them to go up. Prices had gone up in ratio to the economic power of those who refused to let themselves be forced to the wall; they refused to give up their fight for survival to accommodate the economic "planning" of the creeping socialists.

There is only one kind of control that means anything to the American people as a whole—the interplay of competing forces within the free-enterprise system. Far from doing away with controls, Congress now is re-establishing the only controls that work. The creeping socialists have been barred from any further creeping in the name of wage and price controls.

Heaven For Dictators

In its semi-annual report on censorship throughout the world, Associated Press finds no improvement governments which have kept hands off the news are still being tolerant.

Governments are comprised of human beings. Human beings who have the power and the gall to tell others what they may read, write, think and say are dictators. Only dictators make a practice of suppressing information.

It is because dictators are unsure of themselves. They are weak. They dream of the day when they may be able to grin and bear it, no matter what anyone wants to say about them; when they may feel as secure, for example, as Harry Truman, who is worked over persistently and unceremoniously by the press of the United States, yet comes up smiling because he does not need to be afraid of what is said about him.

Mr. Truman, his predecessors and his successors have had this privilege because the Bill of Rights in the U.S. Constitution guaranteed to the sovereign people the right to speak and write as they pleased. That simple safeguard became the secret of the world's best-balanced government.

There isn't a news-suppressing dictator on earth who wouldn't give his right arm to have so much security he would dare to let his critics speak and write what they pleased. That would be heaven!

Time For Film Censorship Review

Ohio motion picture exhibitors and the motion picture industry are hopeful that recent U.S. Supreme Court rulings against arbitrary censorship will cause the State Assembly to reconsider the state's outworn censorship law.

Their hope is based on the fact that all but five states now rely on the motion picture industry, itself, to control its product. Only Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania, Kansas and Ohio assume the right to excise parts of films, to bar films which are not cut to the censors' orders and to impose an extra charge on the movie industry for services which never were solicited and are no longer tolerable.

In Ohio, even a newscast is subject to censorship, not necessarily because it might contain something objectionable but because of the service charge collected for all censoring activity.

This charge is reported to take some $3 million a year out of movie income. After the cost of censorship has been paid, the remainder of this money is divided equally between the state's general fund and a project for visual aid in public education. Thus, censorship has been turned into an activity for revenue, since it is only rarely that the censors can find anything even remotely objectionable in films which already have met the Motion Picture Authority code.

Members of the State Assembly to be elected this year should give attention to the futility and inequity of a law which has outgrown whatever usefulness it may have had before motion pictures adopted their own standards of production.

Lots of people go on vacation to forget things—and find out they have when they open their grips.

New Luxury Liner

By PETER EDSON

Needs Shakedown Cruise On Subsidies

The new $70 million super luxury liner, the S.S. United States which will soon be put in service on the Atlantic passenger run to Europe, is having more than its share of financial shakedown troubles.

These troubles are perhaps best personified by the experiences of John W. Hanes, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Lines, the company which will operate the vessel.

Purpose of the press conference was to promote the U. S. Lines' contention that the federal government carry out its original contract which would give the $70 million luxury liner to U.S. Lines for $28 million.

The difference between the cost of construction and the selling price is to be made up by $42 million worth of "subsidies, handouts, grants and assorted aids to individuals and groups," such as Mr. Hanes inveighed against in his quoted remarks above.

TWENTY-FOUR million dollars worth of this subsidy is to be charged up to the U.S. defense effort, so that the liner could be used as a military transport in time of war. The other $18 million is outright subsidy under U.S. maritime law, to equalize American shipbuilding costs with the lower costs in foreign shipyards.

U. S. Comptroller General Lindsay Warren is insisting that the contract for the construction of the S. S. United States be reviewed and the subsidy reduced.

Mr. Warren, one of the grandest watchdogs of the Treasury in Washington, is an ex-congressman from North Carolina. He shares completely the views of his fellow Tarheel, Mr. Hanes, that there are too many wastes of government money, too many subsidies and too many high taxes.

Lindsay Warren knows full well that all these things are tending to destroy the private enterprise system and weaken individual initiative.

"The handout state philosophy starts with social security, and through subsidies, handouts, grants and assorted aids to individuals and groups, reaches a stage where the dominating force in the lives of the people is the federal government."

"This trend, so obviously contrary to the developments that originally gave this nation the subside, is dependent on Government Can Result in Negation of the Individual."

Reduction in subsidies for the S. S. United States would be in line with similar reductions in subsidies from $35 million to $24 million, paid for construction of the American Export liners Constitution and Independence. American Export is bucking this cut.

Meantime, the House Merchant Marine committee has just approved a bill which would liberalize subsidies paid to U.S. shipbuilders. The committee doesn't think subsidies are bad.

Material Deficits Danger

By BRUCE BIASSET

A commission named by the President to study American and world raw materials problems predicts that by 1975 we will be importing about one-fifth of all our materials requirements.

That is only one striking statement in a long list set forth by the commission in its report which includes 70 specific recommendations for the nation's industrial future. What this carefully prepared document tells us is this:

1-The United States is now a raw-materials-deficit nation and will become more so as our population rises and industry expands. We must import to live.

2-Shorthands of many items already are developing. While generally these are not yet grave deficiencies, they mean we are having to probe deeper into the rock and use more man-hours of labor to get the raw stuff out. Thus mounting cost is more of a problem now than actual depletion.

3-If we are not to endanger our security or our living standards, we shall have to attend seriously to measures that will improve our raw material position both domestically and with friendly nations which help supply us.

NATURALLY a number of things could upset the most expertly projected forecast of industrial needs. One-war—the commission takes full cognizance of War, with its colossal demands for materials, alters the outlook swiftly and radically.

2-A second hazard is technological change. Who, in 1925, could have foreseen the huge growth of the chemical industry by 1950, with emphasis on oil by-products, synthetic fabrics, and plastics? Who could have guessed about atomic energy? Yet these things and many another technical advance have vastly re-shaped the U. S. materials situation in this age.

In this development lies one of our greatest hopes for security and well-being. The commission, in its recommendations, wisely stresses that we must try to get more out of the things we have, and find substitutes at home for some of the things that are running short.

BUT THIS cannot be the whole answer, even assuming all the best. American demands simply are too great. Since World War I, for instance, the amount of most metals and fuels used in this country exceeds the volume used in the entire world before 1914.

We have also got to face the reality that we need friends abroad, and not just to provide armies, or bases, or other defenses. We need them to fuel and supply our industrial machine. The statesmen who do not understand this cruel truth is living in the 19th century. Economic self-sufficiency for America faded into limbo a long time ago.

The Cost Of European Aid

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Since 1945, the United States has given Europe, Asia and Africa $40,000,000,000. This is mostly for free. Out of that amount, Europe got the lion's share. Great Britain got $6,122,276,000. An additional $6,431,249,750 has been voted by Congress, making a total of more than $46,000,000,000.

If this is added lend-lease, UNRRA and similar funds, then since 1939 the United States had contributed more than $100,000,000 mostly to the European nations.

Little of this money has directly percolated down to the people of the countries aided but has been used by the various governments to sustain themselves in power. Had methods been devised to bring American aid more directly to the people, and not through their governments, the United States would today be more popular in Europe.

THE STATE Department has issued a publication entitled, "Our Foreign Policy," which contains the following amazing statement:

"Paul Hoffman maintains that European recovery has not cost the American taxpayer a nickel. He bases this statement on the conviction that, but for the economic and political revival of free Europe, the United States would have had to spend many billions more in armament. In short, American aid has saved Europe not only from economic collapse but also from communist domination."

This would be interesting if true. Unfortunately, in spite of this huge expenditure on European recovery, the United States, for the current fiscal year, has to spend about $60,000,000,000 on its military activities. This does not include the atomic program nor the full cost of the Korean war.

According to the press notices and comments, something new has come upon us—marathon television. Do not think for a minute that 14½-hour celebrity exhibition last weekend for the benefit of the United States Olympic team will not have commercial consequences.

The Olympians are amateurs, but the folks who pitched in to raise money for their expenses keep an eye on the main chance.

They demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that in a country sprawled from one ocean to another and looking for an excuse to stay up late on Saturday night there is a receptive audience for a continuous show. Or more to the point, the television business proved it. The commercial consequences will follow in due course of time.

Marathon entertainment always has had a ready reception among Americans, so it was inevitable that television would take a crack at it. The TV version will be different only in the scope from rocking chair sitting, flagpole sitting, filibusters in the U.S. Senate, marathon skating, marathon dancing, endurance flying, marathon walking and the all-night spree—all with strong customer appeal in a society which believes in going the limit.

The TV version will be based on the premise that viewers who will stay up past midnight to see old movies they would not have stayed up until 10 p.m. to see when the movies were new will stay up all night long to see live entertainers, especially if their performances are highlighted by the continuous presence of favorites like Bing Crosby and Bob Hope.

This first demonstration was for the benefit of amateur sportsmen who are going to represent the United States in the Olympic games in Finland. Subsequent demonstrations will be for the benefit of sponsors who represent the American point of view that nothing should be neglected which might turn an honest dollar in their direction.

Opportunity is knocking on gawk boxes from coast to coast. Remember when you pull down the shades on the east windows some Sunday morning to keep the sun's early glare from hitting your TV screen that you read here what was going to happen.

They even will be church services to take care of those who will be too tired to make the Sunday-morning trip to the scene of worship. The time is coming with electronic speed when a citizen of the United States can sit in front of a gawk box for a lost weekend and never lack for something to stare at and listen to.

They used to tell us when television was still in the future that it would open up new dimensions in living. It has been doing just that—opening up new dimensions in the manner of a stick of dynamite going off in the living room.

Marathon entertainment always has had a ready reception among Americans, so it was inevitable that television would take a crack at it. The TV version will be different only in the scope from rocking chair sitting, flagpole sitting, filibusters in the U.S. Senate, marathon skating, marathon dancing, endurance flying, marathon walking and the all-night spree—all with strong customer appeal in a society which believes in going the limit.

The Candidates Round Table

(Wherein all the aspirants to the White House talk it over.)

Taft—Now that I have it all sewed up...

Ike—Brother, are you about to see the stitches ripped?

Taft—General, I can't lose.

Ike—I call your attention to the fact that in all my battles my opponents always said the same thing.

Stassen—I hope nothing happens to interfere with the fight between you two boys. I had an awful dream last night in which a deadlock seemed impossible.

MacArthur—Pipe down! I can't concentrate on my keynote speech unless I have complete quiet.

Ike—if ever had complete quiet, Mac, it would kill you. Why don't you nominate Taft and be done with it?

MacArthur—Hush—You are hampering my efforts to fade away.

Stassen—Look who's fading!

Ike—He is the only general who ever faded away in Technicolor.

Taft—As I was saying, with the nomination handed to me on the first ballot.

Ike—There he goes again. I can't figure out, Bob, whether it is overconfidence, brashness or just the result of too many video programs.

Taft—I have it in the bag.

Ike—You're the first man I ever knew who could confuse a bag with the smoke from a steam roller.

Taft—You entered the race too late, Ike.

Sally Campbell Becomes Bride Of John Reinartz In Presbyterian Church

The sanctuary of the Presbyterian Church was beautifully appointed for the wedding Saturday evening of Miss Sara Mary (Sally) Campbell and John Philipp Reinartz of Middletown who pledged their vows in a ceremony performed by Dr. David E. Molynaux, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Flint, Mich.

In a dramatic all-white and green chancel setting combining cybotium fern and bouquets of white roses, delphinium and snapdragons.

Mrs. John P. Reinartz

ons, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic McKee Campbell of Highland Ave. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philipp M. Reinartz of Middletown were married in a single-ring service.

At the altar, lighted by tapers in twin candelabra and altar candles, the flower theme of the chancel was repeated in smaller arrangements. The windows of the church were banked with greenery around lighted white tapers, and each pew was marked on the aisle by beribboned white roses and gladioli.

Miss Anna Cook presented a program of organ music before and during the ceremony and sounded the familiar wedding marches to herald the bridal party.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of traditional ivory silk satin with a wide-throated album neckline banded in fine fluting. From the molded bodice fell a vast skirt of unpressed pleats ending in cathedral train. Her veil was made with a cap of heirloom rosepoint lace which belonged to her maternal great-grandmother. The same lace fell gracefully down the sides of a full-length veil of ivory French illusion. White orchids and stephanotis arranged in shower fashion were used in the bride's bouquet.

On Eastern Honeymoon

Mrs. Richard H. Tullis

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howard Tullis, who were married June 22 in St. Jacob Evangelical and Reformed Church, are honeymooning in the New England states and will return to make their home at 664 Union Ave. Mrs. Tullis is the former Vivian Marie Bates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bates of RD 3, Salem. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hazen Hunter of Salem.

Traditional wedding music was played by the organist, Miss Birdie Brady, with singing by the all-girl choir.

Mrs. Joseph Driscoll, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Beltempo, cousin of the bride and Miss Mary Catherine Duko, youngest sister of the bridegroom, were junior bridesmaids. Anna Marie Beltempo, niece of the bride and Toni Beltempo, cousin of the bride, were flower girls.

Edward Duko was his brother's best man and Guy Beltempo and George Duko, brothers of the couple, were ushers.

Given Away By Father

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of nylon marquisette and lace fashioned with tucked bodice and demure peter pan collar. The full skirt flowed into a cathedral train.

Her illusion veil fell from a Juliet cap edged with seed pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

All the bride's attendants wore gowns of nylon tulle and lace fashioned after the bride's gown in orchid, yellow and mint green.

They carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and shasta daisies. The flower girls wore gowns of white nylon marquisette and carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and multi-colored daisies. They wore crowns of the same flowers in their hair.

5 Attend Reception

A dinner for 75 relatives and out-of-town guests was served at Midway Grange hall, south of Leetonia. A wedding reception was held at the Valley Golf Club from 7 to 10 p.m. An exquisite plateau of white snapdragons, delphiniums and roses decorated the bride's table. The five-tiered wedding cake surrounded by lilies of the valley was on a lace-covered side table.

After a wedding trip through the eastern states, Mr. and Mrs. Duko will live in their newly constructed home at 245 Walnut St. in Leetonia.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Leetonia High School and attended Youngstown College. Mrs. Duko is employed in the office of the Bell Telephone Co. at Salem. Mr. Duko, a Navy veteran, is an engineer with The Pittsburgh Coke and Chemical Co., Struthers.

More than 150 persons attended the reception in the church. Afterwards the young people left for a week's honeymoon in the Pocono Mountains. They will make their home in New London, Conn., where the groom is stationed with the Navy.

The couple exchanged their vows in a double-ring ceremony performed at 9:30 a.m. Saturday by Rev. E. S. Scott in the First Christian Church. Only the immediate families witnessed the nuptials.

A gardenia corsage complemented the bride's pink lace street-length gown which she wore over taffeta. Her accessories were white.

Following a short honeymoon the groom will return to Indian Gap, Pa., and the bride will remain with her parents.

Orville C. Hoover, manager of the Home Savings & Loan Co. office, has returned to his home, Buckeye Ave., following an operation at Youngstown Northside Hospital. Attorney Robert Jones of the Youngstown Home Savins office is acting manager here in Mr. Hoover's absence.

Indians Lose, Tie With Chicago; Now 4½ Games Behind

Tipton Prevents Double Defeat

Second Game Called Because Of Darkness

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians can thank a player they got only last week for keeping them in the first division today.

Catcher Joe Tipton came through with two homers and two singles for four runs Sunday, keeping the Tribe from losing a doubleheader to the Chicago White Sox. Cleveland bought him from Philadelphia for $20,000.

Cleveland dropped the opened 4-2 and played to a 10-inning deadlock, 7-7, in the second. The game was called because of darkness and will be replayed.

The White Sox picked up a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the second game on a two-run homer by Eddie Robinson. But the Indians had gone ahead 6-3 by the sixth.

Tipton singled in Larry Doby in the second and slammed a two-run homer in the fourth. Al Rosen and Doby walked in the fifth and scored on a double by Ray Boone. Tipton hit his second homer in the sixth.

Chicago surged ahead 7-4 in its half of the sixth. Sam Dente tripled home two to send starter Bob Lemon to the showers and scored himself when pinch hitter Eddie Stewart whammed reliever Steve Gromek's first offering into the stands.

Luke Easter homered for the Tribe in the seventh to tie the score.

The White Sox nearly did it in the 10th, but Doby and Tipton nipped what would have been the deciding run. Dente singled and moved to second on a sacrifice. Nellie Fox singled, but Doby's toss to the new catcher caught Dente at the plate.

Early Wynn gave up only seven hits in the first game and accounted for both of Cleveland's runs. His double in the second inning scored Boone and Jim Hegan, who had singled.

The Indians are off today, and open here Tuesday night against the St. Louis Browns.

Peddled Players, Managers Get Revenge On Former Clubs

the run that gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 6-5 victory.

Fitzsimmons, fired as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies six years ago to the day—June 30, 1945—took over the reins of the New York Giants due to Leo Durocher's four-day suspension, and directed his charges to a 12-3 triumph over the Phils.

Kryhoski, traded off by Detroit last February, cracked a home run with two out and two on in the last of the ninth to give the St. Louis Browns a 3-2 victory over his former Tiger mates.

Pollet and Garagiola, batters-met sent by the St. Louis Cardinals to Pittsburgh last year, combined to lead the Pirates to a 2-1 win over the Redbirds. Pollet pitched a two-hitter. Garagiola scored one run and drove in the other.

Pramesa slammed a pinch hit bases-loaded single to drive in the last two of Chicago's seven runs in the ninth inning that enabled the Cubs to overcome an 8-2 deficit and defeat his former Cincinnati mates, 9-8, in the first game of a doubleheader.

Sauer, another former Red, kept the big ninth inning rally going with a run-scoring single after two were out.

Borkowski, who went to Cincinnati in the Pramesa deal last winter, smacked a pair of doubles, drove in two runs and handled seven putouts in centerfield in helping the Reds down the Cubs, 9-1, in the second game.

Noren got only one hit but it was a first-inning single that ignited a three-run rally against his former Washington mates as the New York Yankees went on to sweep both ends of a doubleheader from the Senators, 5-0 and 3-1.

Veteran Allie Reynolds and rookie Bill Miller pitched the Yankee victories that widened New York's first-place lead in the American League to 4½ games over the runner-up Boston Red Sox. Boston moved up two notches past Cleveland and Washington although idle. Rain washed out the scheduled doubleheader against the Philadelphia Athletics.

Washington fell from second into fifth place as the Nats saw their five-game winning streak go up in smoke. Bob Porterfield and Randy Gumpert, a pair of former Yankees, failed to join the "Revenge Brigade" as they went down to defeat. However, Jackie Jensen, another ex-Yankee, hit safely in each game for Washington to extend his hitting streak through 15 consecutive games.

Yogi Berra was the big gun in the Yankee attack. The stocky catcher walloped his 15th home of the season with two mates aboard to provide Reynolds with more runs.

Kryhoski's three-run homer presented pitcher Virgil Trucks of Detroit with heart-breaking loss. The righthander had a three-hit shutout within his grasp when he retired the first two St. Louis batters in the ninth. Then shortstop Neil Berry fumbled Al Nieman's grounder, Clint Courtney singled and both scored ahead of Kryhoski, who lashed a pitch into the right field stands.

Gardener Has Many Weapons To Combat Plant Ills, Pests

If you're determined to have a garden you automatically inherit some of the ills and pests plants are heirs to.

Fortunately, nature and man have co-operated to provide the gardener with a pretty adequate arsenal of effective weapons with which to conduct warfare on those two enemies, although it's practically an all-season job.

Sprays, dusts, poison baits and the reluctant hand of the gardener are not the only means of reducing the insect, worm and caterpillar population. There are also a few predatory insects which the gardener should learn to recognize and spare. Among them are the weird green praying mantis, the orange and black spotted lady bug and the dragon fly. Some of them devour insect pests, others dine on aphids.

Birds Are Natural Ally

The gardener's greatest natural ally, however, is the bird family, most of whom consume many times their weight in bugs in the course of a short period. All of which makes the hobby of attracting birds good business as well as a pleasure.

It would be impossible, in a short article, to run the gamut of protective weapons. New chemical controls are appearing regularly, many of them highly lethal to friend and enemy alike when used unwisely. All of them, and particularly those of the DDT family, should be used wisely, and the printed instructions followed to the exact letter. Extravagant use of some has resulted in death and crippling of birds and even family pets.

Two Types of Insects

For practical purposes, the insect world may be divided into two parts: the chewing insects and the sucking insects. Chewing insects may be kept under rein by the use of sprays and dusts or poisons which kill by entering their stomachs. Sucking insects, which siphon off the vital plant juices, are best handled by chemicals which paralyze and smother on contact.

Asenate of lead is the best known of the stomach poisons, and combinations of pyrethrum and rotenone are effective on the sucking types. DDT and others of the newly developed chemicals knock off both kinds.

Dormant Spray Essential

For any effective results in the bug battle, the basic essentials would consist first of a dormant spray—a miscible oil to be applied to fruit trees, lilacs and other susceptible ornamental trees and shrubs a couple of weeks before the buds begin to burst. This is effective against any of the scale diseases and catches pests which winter over when they are most vulnerable.

There also should be nicotine sulfate, for aphid control, a rotenone-pyrethrum preparation, and Bordeaux mixture for fungus growths. For those who grow gladioli, or anything else attracting thrrips, the bulbs may be treated with DDT before planting. Red spider, which apparently thrives on DDT, are best controlled with nicotine, rotenone or sulphur.

Most gardeners use both a spray gun and a duster for applying the

Built without basement, it provides a utility room in which an automatic General Electric heating and cooling

Slugs and snails respond best to poison bait, but be sure to renew it after a rain.

Japanese beetles are discouraged if the ground is infiltrated with a milky spore preparation—a sort of special anti-beetle germ warfare. The alternatives are DDT and handpicking them from the best blooms every morning when they are dull and slip unprotesting into a mason jar half-filled with water and a couple of teaspoonsful of kerosene or motor oil.

Frank J. Stipic secured a permit for the construction of a $13,000 home at 1268 E. 11th St. The house will be a four-room and bath, one floor model with garage attached. It will be of wood frame construction.

More than three-and-one-half billion dollars in cash will be paid to holders of U. S. Savings Bonds maturing this year, and in 1953 this source will place in the hands of American families more than five billion dollars in cash.

This will provide a substantial fund of cash to millions of families. Many will invest this year in home improvements and new homes, according to the latest Federal Reserve Board annual survey of consumer finances and intentions.

This survey points out that American families expect to buy about the same number of slightly fewer new homes in 1952 as compared with last year.

Among those who elect to improve their present homes, a large number will remodel their kitchens and bathrooms for these rooms are the most important in "dating" the house.

Modern materials such as pre-finished wall panels, which can be applied on the walls and ceilings by the home handyman himself, will be utilized by many to modernize their kitchens and bathrooms this year.

fore frost and storing in a warm dry place.

Q—How is borax applied for the purpose of killing poison ivy?

A—The dry borax is scattered evenly over the soil beneath the spread of the poison ivy branches at the rate of 10 pounds per square rod of acid soil, or 15 pounds per square rod of alkaline soil. Killing will require several weeks.

The borax will also kill some, but not all, other plants. This fact should be kept in mind.

Quizzing The Gardener

Q—The experts all recommend cultivation. What are the benefits derived from this chore?

A—Cultivation keeps down weeds, thus giving more food to the other plants; it closes the cracks in dry soil, thus conserving moisture, and breaks up a heavy soil, thus giving air and moisture to the roots.

Q—How do you cultivate gourds?

A—Gourds should be cultivated like melons or squash. They like a light, humusy enriched soil. They need lots of sun. Sow seed where they are to grow as they do not transplant, 10 or 12 in a hill, spacing hills six or more feet apart. Gourds do best on a trellis or similar support as they climb 10 to 15-feet high.

Q—I would like to know how to take care of tuberous. Are they supposed to be separated, planted singly or in clumps? Very few bloom for me.

A—Tuberous are difficult to maintain in a flowering condition from year to year in the northern states. Annual purchase of fresh tubers is recommended. The tuber, or bulb, that has flowered is usually worthless the second year, and the many small tubers that it produces must be grown on for another year or two in order to attain flowering size. This means digging them up each autumn before

Home Air-Conditioning Units Becoming Cheaper To Operate

This is a good time of the year to keep cool about air cooling. When the summer sun heats the house up to a point where you don't even want to go to bed at night, you're likely to say: "Let's forget about a new car and buy an air-conditioner."

In one way that's not a rash statement. Some air-conditioning plants, adequate to keep a whole house comfortable the year 'round, can cost just about the same as a new car. But in another way, it's not quite as simple as that.

Cooling a house calls for a completely different technique than heating a house. The way your house is built and the way you live are vital factors in aid cooling. Vast window walls or lack of efficient insulation and a habit of entertaining a lot, with your house more or less full of people, can make cooling an expensive proposition.

In fact, the initial cost of almost any cooling system is not the big item. You can get excellent air coolers to fit into a window or stand in a room like a piece of furniture for about the price of a good radio or television set. These are adequate for one room. Or you can get a larger unit to hook up with an existing circulating warm air duct system for around $1,000 to $1,200.

But the upkeep is something to think about. If you grouse about your fuel bills in winter, or feel that they pinch the family budget, you might prefer to sweat out the warm weather with a fan and long cool drink.

SERVICE—SATISFACTION—COMFORT

A SMALL HOUSE that looks big, both front and rear, this plan incorporates several modern ideas. The shed type roof provides for clerestory windows giving the living room maximum ventilation. These windows are shown under the roof on the rear garden side. Large picture windows on both front and rear and high windows for privacy in bedrooms are among other details. This is Plan H-162-P by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Rd., East Detroit, Mich. It covers 1,027 square feet.

125 foot lots fully equipped with year-round General Electric air-conditioners. This project involves 210 houses. Another Texas development of 115 air-cooled houses followed. Operating costs in Texas were estimated at $93 a year for a normal cooling season and about $40 for a normal heating season.

At Haworth, N. J., the cooling system was combined with the air-wall system of high velocity ducts diffusing in a fan-like pattern over the outer walls of rooms in 65 ranch-style homes.

This cooling unit can be piped into the air ducts of any existing warm air system. It also can be used with radiator heat by installing cooling ducts. You can get a cooling unit installed for about $1,000, or a combination heating and cooling system for around $1,500. They operate on 220-volt power—about the same as a modern electric range.

A COMBINATION heating and cooling setup has an automatic changeover switch. In spring and fall when there may be need for heat in the morning and cooling in the afternoon, especially when the sun shines through large windows, the temperature is automatically kept constant.

Humidity also is controlled. In muggy weather, excess moisture is removed from the air—in winter, dry air is automatically tempered.

The efficiency of any type of cooling plant depends greatly on its installation. For example, heating outlets can be placed low on a wall, or in the baseboard, to allow heat to rise through a room. For cooling, high side-wall outlets are preferred, permitting the cool air to drop naturally.

And condensation must be guarded against. Warm air ducts are seldom insulated. If uninsulated cooling ducts run through an uncooled space, moisture can condense on their outside surfaces.

It's not as simple as going to the movies to cool off, but it's great if you can afford it.

Timing Is Important In Installing Floors

When these recommendations are not followed, the scientifically kiln-dried flooring may absorb an excessive amount of moisture, then contract under the influence of heat after a few months' use. Inspect Home Frequently For Needed Repair

A family's investment in the home should be protected by keeping the house in first-class condition at all times.

This means constant attention to small details so that even with age there will be little impairment in value. The house should continue indefinitely to be sturdy and attractive as when new.

Repairs should be made as soon as defects are discovered, preventing small jobs becoming costly big ones. A split clapboard will quickly rot and damage the interior by admitting moisture. A few broken or displaced shingles will soon result in serious damage that may cost hundreds of dollars to repair. There should be frequent inspections of the house inside and out.

One of the most economical factors in maintaining the value of a house is regular painting of both exterior and interior. Exterior paint should be renewed at least every four years. Not only does this add beauty to the house, but more important is the fact that top-quality paint, properly applied, protects the wood and metal surfaces from rot, rust and corrosion. It is these enemies of wood and metal that cause the real damage to any structure. Where paint is kept in good condition, repair bills are kept down.

An attractive home with modern color treatment is always worth more than a drab house, although the drab house may be equally as sound structurally.

Farewell Held For Rev. Fr. Marceau

Members of St. Philip Neri Catholic Church at Dungannon met Wednesday evening in the parish hall for a farewell party honoring Rev. Fr. Paul Marceau, who has served the parish the past six years.

Fr. Marceau has been assigned to start a new parish in Capon effective June 27. He is a member of the American Legion Lepine-Rush Post and has been the post chaplain. Recently he was elected its commander.

Among those present at the farewell was the new pastor Fr. William Lawler of Youngstown, and Fr. Herman Klocker of Lisbon. Short prizes were given by the priests after which the young people of the church presented a program.

Mary Ann, Betty Ellen and Danielle John Fury presented musical numbers and Nancy Gause and Mary Alice Grouse entertained with a tap dance and Billy Ritchey gave a baton routine. A purse of money was Fr. Marceau's gift from the parish. Altar and Rosary Society members served refreshments.

said he thought President Truman would run again under certain conditions.

This time it was Sen. William Benton of Connecticut. In a weekend speech for Democrats at Oshkosh, Wis., he said he feels Truman would become a candidate to save the party from an unacceptable nominee. He added: "I do not think he will run because I am positive we Democrats will nominate the right candidate."

Some of the men who would like to fill that bill were busy trying to show they could.

Needn't Fear Russia

At New York, Mutual Security Administrator Averell Harriman told a CBS television audience the United States need fear Russia no longer in a couple of years if it pursues its present anti-Communist program.

On an NBC television show from Washington, Georgia Sen. Richard Russell pegged his bid to his record: 32 years in public life, 20 of them as a senator, the rest as a Georgia governor and legislator.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, on a Washington CBS-TV program, said he favors a constitutional ban on poll taxes, a voluntary fair employment plank in the Democratic platform—but would support whatever civil rights policies the July 21 convention adopts.

Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma told a news conference at Salt Lake City nobody would get the required majority—61% of 1,230 delegate votes—on the first ballot at the convention. Kerr predicted he would win on a later ballot.

The Associated Press scorecard for Democrats shows Kefauver ahead with 251½ delegates. Russell is next with 135½, followed by Harriman's 9½. Kerr has 38½.

In Chicago, Taft's headquarters issued a statement saying Alfred M. Landon, the 1936 GOP candidate for president, has endorsed Taft because he believes Taft can win the November general election.
